

---

WTF just happened?

7 messages

---

Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>

Sun, Jun 2, 2013 at 1:46 PM

To: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

I've been trying to follow events as they occur through the yahoo group. I'm of course not super familiar with who is who, but I'm surprised you gave "Scott Liddell" (whoever the fuck that is) that much power over you. Anyway I don't want to lose touch with you. I've already got the fear that with Ryan's recent departure from Satanism, I'll lose touch with him as well. You two are the only reason I've remained interested in ONA as long as I have. To great end this is mostly because I enjoy your insight.

Anyway.. I am just reaching out to ensure I remain active with minds I appreciate.

---

Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

Mon, Jun 3, 2013 at 12:03 AM

Reply-to: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

To: Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>

Hi BX,

You're sneaky, I didn't know you were in the ONA "backroom" where all the stupid drama happens :) There is a long story and a short story. I'll give you both, short one first.

Short story:

"Scott Liddle" is David Myatt. What you saw happen fast in that thread was an example of the Law of Unintended Consequences... or in other words, you saw a man shoot himself in the foot unintentionally.

Myatt [as Scott] in the beginning of that thread in no way attacked me or hinted anything about me. Myatt has a habit of roll playing and trolling people under many different nyms to make his real name "David Myatt" look good. And what he'll do is drop a link like he usually does and quickly asks for comments.

In that David Icke thread, SinisterMoon, that Pain guy, and the other person interacting with SM & that Pain guy are all Myatt. I recognize this technique because me and my friends used it back in the day to get people to talk about WSA and ONA. We'd talk shit about WSA or ONA or our own friends. So in that Icke thread, I didn't take anything he said seriously. His desire was to catch David Icke's attention so Icke can include him [DM] in one of his next books. DM got this idea originally from Kayla back in the day, who once had the idea of trolling Icke so Icke would mention ONA in one of his books.

In the Icke thread Myatt mentions several recent works of fiction which mentions the ONA. In these fiction novels the authors makes the ONA to look like a very evil group of killers.

So in our Yahoo Group as Scott Myatt expresses dismay by saying that it's a shame the real ONA isn't as evil as it is in the fiction novels.

Keep the key points so far in mind now :) We first have Myatt pretending to be 3 people fighting himself so Icke can mention David Myatt in a book. Then we have make believe fiction novels make ONA sound really evil. Then Myatt says basically: "Gee, I wish ONA was evil like in the fiction novels."

This is where I enter the thread and say that the troll game Myatt is playing is funny. I simply thought Myatt wanted us to watch his Punch and Judy act over at the David Icke forum. But then Myatt does his usually "shoot himself in the foot" thing.

This is when he [Scott/Myatt] emotively says without thinking roughly: "Maybe those blogs are evil enough." After that he asks us all the question: "Has ONA become Soft?"

This is where I bring up that if ONA is soft, it is because David Myatt has become soft by talking shit about extremism and terrorism and so on. I also try to bring up real issues I see with the ONA that is causing problems.

Instead of dealing with the real issues Myatt/Scott gives me 6 "suggestions" to fix the problem of ONA being too soft.

This is an important point because Myatt/Scott asks if ONA has become soft, and then he gives me 6 suggestions on how to make ONA "hard" again. You have to keep that in mind, cuz it's what pissed me off later.

So when Scott/Myatt gave me those 6 suggestions I take them and was going to gladly implement them for him. This is how Myatt has been working with me for 5 years. Myatt is an extreme Passive Aggressive type person. He doesn't even usually have the... how can I put this nicely... "manhood" to directly tell you to do something. He gives you "suggestions," or gives me "suggestions."

The thing is me and Myatt understand each other exactly because we've been working like this for 4-5 years.

What Myatt/Scott was talking about was that the Propaganda or Rhetoric, or Mythos, or Image we [his blogs and mine] were putting out had become "soft." You can tell Myatt was talking about rhetorical propaganda because if you pay close attention to the 6 suggestions he gave me to do to make the ONA "hard" again, you will see that nowhere in the 6 suggestions did Myatt say: "Look Chloe, ONA has gone soft. You need to get those pussies in there killing folk and committing crimes against humanity again. Let's get going!"

Look closely at his 6 suggestions. They all deal with telling the public STORIES, make believe STORIES, what we in the Inner Circle ONA call "Mythos."

He tell me to TALK about how AL [Anton Long] is the creator of ONA. To explain why the person David Myatt has gone soft he tells me to TALK about how all the sinister deeds are done during the 7FW stage, and that after passing the abyss stage which is 40 years, you stop the sinister deeds to mellow out. Which explains why David Myatt is soft today. He tells me to TALK thru my blog and writings so the public will know that there is an "Inner ONA" which means just himself [DM].

So if you look carefully at the suggestions he is giving me on how to fix the problem of ONA being soft, you'll see its just Myatt telling me to change my TALK or STORY and make the ONA sound and look evil to the PUBLIC. He mentions nothing about ONA members doing sinister deeds to make ONA hardcore again.

This is where I had enough. Two reasons made me quit:

A) The first reason was that all this time - for 5 whole years - I worked my ass off trying to make his ONA into something real. Like a real organizations. And here Myatt/Scott is telling me to tell STORIES to the public to make ONA sound evil, so he can troll David Icke and so the "real" ONA can sound as evil as it does in the fiction novels. I thought we were trying to make the ONA into a real organization or something, and Myatt wants to tell tall tales and make ONA into an unrealistic fiction, so he can troll David Icke.

B) These dummies in that ONA yahoo group step up, and not understanding that Scott/Myatt's entire thread was about how ONA propaganda and mythos had become soft, and that he suggests 6 pointers on how I should talk more evil, those dummies in that group start pointing fingers at me and saying that it's because of me that ONA is soft!? Myatt was talking about the Mythos of ONA. Those dummies were thinking ONA stopped killing and doing sinister shit. The fact is, ONA was never hardcore in real life because it NEVER EXISTED. It wasn't until the Temple of THEM that ONA had its firsts real "nexion" or subgroup. before that, ONA was a mythos [re: story/fake]. WSA was David Myatt's second "real" [in the real world] ONA nexion.

So it was those two reasons [A&B] that broke my back. First I have some 60 year old man who can't stop playing troll games telling me he wants the oNA to be more fictitiously evil, than be an actual real organization. Second I got dummies on my back who don't know shit about DM or ONA history... it has no history. It was never hardcore because it never existed, So it can't [ossibly have grone soft if it was never hard in the first place?

So I just got fed up and resigned. How did you like how I quit LOL? I went out like a Politician, resignation letter and all :) AND, just to tell someone to make me feel better inside: Till the end BX, up even in my resignation letter, I Honoured and never disrespected David Myatt. He's the one that dishonoured me.

Long Story:

David Myatt had several wives and girlfriends. He isn't good with relationships. This BX, is reflected in Myatt's relationships with his ONA partners. Since 1990 Myatt worked with a partner. First it was CB aka Richard Moulton. Then it was Thornian aka Michael Ford. Then it was Kris aka Ryan of THEM. Then it was me. Look close and you'll notice that ALL OF US: me, Ryan, Ford, and Moulton, have left him [DM].

What you saw quickly take place in that yahoo group was 5 years of being in a relationship with DM which finally fell apart... just like all of his relationships.

DM is passive aggressive and his passively abusive. It's like being in a relationship with a boyfriend who isn't very manly and who is passive aggressive.

Most of the others who worked with DM will say anything about how Myatt really is except Ryan. Which is why Myatt and Ryan hate each other.

The thing is BX, Myatt "borrows" your ideas and stuff in your writings. He'll put them into his own words, and then never give you credit. Then he tries to find some way to get rid of you so he can be the only person who can be said to have founded and created the ONA. Ryan warned me about all this 4 whole years ago, and I didn't listen to him.

Myatt uses many personas and nym. I'll name you all of the ones he is behind, which Ryan and Dr. Monette can verify. They are: DarkLogos, Dark Lianna, Sinister Moon, R. Parker, Julie R Wright, and PointyHat, and Scott Liddle, and a couple others in the Yahoo Group like Sat Sat. All the so called "Old Guards" are Myatt. Myatt is also the whole "Inner Circle" of the ONA. In fact, he is the ONA :) The sad part is, Julie Wright who is his "biographer" is just himself. He is his own biographer.

The game Myatt is playing is to get himself to be famous and look influential. That's all he wants. The "ONA" is pretty much a "scam." That sounds awful. By "scam" I just mean that it's a tool Myatt uses to collect people. That way he can say things like: "Look I made the ONA, and I influenced all these people." I have to clarify things so you won't misunderstand. There are two "ONA." The first is the memplex which you find in the Black Book of Satan, Naos, Hostia, and in AL's writings. This ONA is the one you as an individual just put into effect on your own. This ONA is the only real one. The scam ONA is the Mythos, the stuff online, the tall tales like culling, the many ONA groupies wanting to join, Myatt and his "Partner" putting out PR and Propaganda to collect people. Myatt even gives the game away in an essay, which I quoted in that thread, where it tells you that an ONA Temple is put together to Use people. That's what ONA is. Think of ONA as a big Temple. The whole facade is a system put together to use people. To make DM look great and influential. In the same essay it says that if you are a genuine "satanist/ona" you'd not be involved with a temple, and you'd do your own thing or start your own temple to use and scam people.

I tried to drop hints about this scam in that one essay I wrote called "Duplication of Effort." The reason why I wrote that at the time was that I saw the 3.0 team was in business, I thought they would be able to use the pointers in that essay, and I wanted to also drop the hint that it's all a scam. I was hoping that the 3.0 team would GET IT, like I did, like Ryan did, like Ford did, like Moulton did, and that they would do what we did and use the ONA for their own personal gains, like Moulton, Ford, Ryan, and I did.

I wrote that essay as my last essay, because I wasn't going to come back. I was hoping Myatt would get the subtle hint with that essay. Things happened, JK made that video about that essay, and that's when Myatt went a little weird and he leaves cyberspace, deletes all of his "Old Guard" ONA wordpresses, gets rid of the Nineangles.info website, and tells us that ONA is "returning to the dark" which means ONA is out of business. This is when he hands me the post of Outer Rep for some reason.

Myatt has a bad 20 year habit of stealing your ideas. For example, if you read any of his ONA and Numinous Way writings pre-2008 you will not ever see any mention of Tribes and Clans. In fact pre-2008 the ONA was strictly individualistic and cell based. It wasn't until WSA came into the picture where we talked about tribes and clans in our Opus Vrilis that Myatt and Anton Long began to write about ONA tribes and clans in his Numinous Way.

He's done this with Richard Moulton 20 years ago. He did this with Ford. He did it with Ryan. Ryan didn't take it, and called Myatt out for this in public. You can find Ryan as Khk in the 600 club calling Myatt [as SinisterMoon] out for this in public. Myatt takes your good ideas, makes it a part of ONA as Anton Long by putting those ideas into his own words, and then not only does he not give you credit for it, but he'll back stab you, like he did with Moulton and Ford, and Ryan, and now me.

My case is a little different. I'm not acting like a victim. My friends and I were playing games with the ONA and Myatt from the beginning since 2008. I tried to hint this to him and others in an essay where I talked about how our WSA in the MySatan days did something we called "eColonizing." Back in 2008, when we found the ONA, we began to try to eColonize it, which basically means that the WSA takes it over [hijacks it] completely.

So for example we would allow Myatt to take whatever ideas he liked from our blog and graft it into ONA and his Numinous Way and never say anything. This was because we wanted to change and influence the ONA and the Numinous Way, and Myatt was willing to take all of our ideas. What Myatt began to do when he noticed that instead of calling him out for taking our ideas, we Praised him for having those ideas as if they were his, Myatt began to bring me and WSA closer and closer and closer to ONA, until in 2011 he let me have ONA as the Outer Rep :) Which was when we officially Annexed or took over the ONA.

The thing was, from the beginning it was all a fun game. For instance me and the WSA bunch spent 3 years trolling and fighting Blackwood. We also spent a couple years fighting Ryan :) And so, when Blackwood left and when we became friends with Ryan, the fun of it all stopped. This was when it all got boring. It's like if you like making music or art at home as a hobby or passion, and all of sudden you sign a contract with a big corporation who demands your time and effort for music and art. So what was once fun and carefree, becomes a lifeless and pointless job/chore.

So after 5 years of Myatt borrowing our ideas to make ONA look and sound good, and after we had annexed ONA, after I had become Outer Rep, and after it all got boring, that thread you saw in the yahoo group was a convenient moment to leave.

What you didn't see was that in private emails since last month me and Ryan were talking about the subject of me soon leaving ONA like Moulton did. And a week before that thread in the yahoo group, Moulton and I were talking and I told him even then that I was soon going to leave ONA like he and Ryan. I also wrote that Letter of Resignation a day before that thread was ever written. I just wasn't sure how or when I would break the news to Myatt. It's like having a boyfriend for 5 years. He's abusive in a passive aggressive way, you want out of the relationship to be free, but still you are emotionally attached and find it hard to leave. That thread pushed me emotionally far enough to make me leave. So I put in my resignation papers.

That's the whole story, from my side and my end. Most of the things I said here about Myatt's character flaws can be verified by Ryan who tried to tell me about Myatt 4 years ago.

I don't want you to be disillusioned about ONA the memeplex. It's a damn good thing and I haven't given it up in my personal life. I'm still "ONA" in private and always will be... because many of the ideas that Anton Long grafted into ONA are mine :) If ONA the memeplex is cool, it's only because of the used and abused people like Richard Moulton, Michael Ford, and Ryan, who put in years of their own time, effort, ideas, creativity, all to have Myatt take those ideas and creativity, put them into his own words as Anton Long, and back stab them in the end.

I'd say to just study ONA the memeplex on your own in private, and take what you need or what will help you develop. Take from ONA the memeplex to build your own group or organization. But don't buy into the mythos, or as JK calls it: Smoke & Mirrors. Don't get caught up in the Image and Tall Tales. Cuz that's when it "mindfucks" with you.

Myatt and me use special terms to explain the actual history of ONA: P1, P2, and P3. P1 or Phase 1 was circa 1972-1990. This was when ONA existed only as an idea in Myatt's head and he was writing it out. P2 or Phase 2 was circa 1990-2005ish. This was when Myatt and Moulton began to spread the Mythos of ONA thru snail mail where they were selling those old school spiral bound ONA books. P3 or Phase 3 was from 2005ish to the present. This is when ONA actually begins to collect real people and real temples/nexions. ONA could not have been hardcore in the past during P1 and P2 stages because it did not exist. It only existed as tall tales and evil sounding stories on paper and evil teachings.

That's the whole story as to what happened. I'll be here, so we'll stay in touch :) If one day some thread comes up in SIN about me leaving ONA, can you do me a favour and just point out a few of the key points as to what really happened in that thread. Based on your own perspective, on what Scott/Myatt was really talking about when he asked if ONA went soft. He was talking about the propaganda and tall tales the public is getting about ONA. He likes to keep ONA some fictitiously unrealistic evil group he founded. I once liked playing games :) But that gets old as you grow up.

Take Care

Chloe

From: Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>

To: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

Sent: Sunday, June 2, 2013 10:46 AM

Subject: WTF just happened?

[Quoted text hidden]

---

Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>

Mon, Jun 3, 2013 at 2:36 PM

To: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

Wow... You handled yourself like a champ! I certainly will take advantage of ANY thread on SIN to put out the key points. A lot of these things I have suspected since the days of MySatan, because of a drunken conversation I had with Kayla. Coincidentally it took me a long time to be sure you were not Kayla. I have mentioned this conversation to you several times over the period of three years, and it is possible I'm not nearly as clever as I think; but you've never replied in a manner that would indicate you have any recollection of the conversation. Anyway this is all important to me because I am going to ask you to please clarify a few details for me.

Who is/was Frater AL? I have always suspected it was Myatt.

You said Ryan and you were discussing you leaving ahead of time. So Ryan's withdraw is obvious part of the greater 'plan' too. What exactly are you two up to?

I remember during the MySatan days our discussions mostly revolved around Freemasonry, as I am Freemason and Frater AL was also interested in it. I remember being told about an all female supremacy with AL at the top of a Freemason-like end goal. Though it may seem strange, it is because of this conversation that I feel I can conclude; that this 'resigning' of both you and Ryan isn't just another ONA PR gimmick.

To be completely forward with you Chloe, I'm very sad for the ONA this week. The loss of you and Ryan, coupled with Myatt's inability to really materialize p 3; kind of leaves the same sick taste in my mouth that Darrick's limp dick does. It is at least fortunate that ONA is a philosophical/ideological/mythological goldmine, and Myatt is no where near the douche Darrick is. I really hoped to one day see a real organization, and I believed you and Ryan would usher that in; despite Myatt's 'games'.

Personally I would have worked hard with people that really wanted to see my ideas come to fruition. In fact a lot of my own ideas have aimed toward developing something more than, a mindfuck with potential insight as the only significant pay off at the end game. Its absolutely mind-numbing the number of semi-enlightened / enlightened folks I've happened across, that have reached out for a group to align with to make real historical changes; are met with people too hooked on their own gratification (the immediate variety), to see the true wealth ahead. This is why a dick goes limp.

As I see it, that is a clear sign of anything other than a true high adept. Yes.. Yes it is a sign of ignorance and inexperience. There is something to be said for the 'last nut'. Forgive the vulgarness of my analogy but... we are talking about mindfucks are we not?

. There is a great deal more I'd like to go into with you, but I'm not certain where you really are. You could be like Jason Sorrell and feel there is really nothing to accomplish here in the interwebs.

I really have enjoyed the wealth of insight you've always provided me. Count yourself as one of the few reasons I still sign in.

Keep it Sinister!

[Quoted text hidden]

---

Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>

Wed, Jun 5, 2013 at 12:24 AM

To: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

So I am way off I take it?

[Quoted text hidden]

---

Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

Wed, Jun 5, 2013 at 2:00 AM

Reply-to: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

To: Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>

Hi BX,

I don't ever recall a Frater AL? But there was someone we called Frata 352 who was close to Kayla? Frata isn't Myatt. His real name is Frank Baldwin, from Malta. He barely spoke English. People made fun of Frank at the 600 club for his bad English, and Kayla befriended him. Kayla is half Italian, and she knows how to speak some Italian. Frata spoke Italian since I guess some Maltese people speak it. So they got along from the get go. He was made a member of the WSA and Kayla gave him the name "Frata" which came from the Italian word "Fratello" meaning Brother.

Kayla and Frata got together after all these talks and they had a plan for WSA. They were going to work on making the WSA into a mafia :) Frata actually was doing illegal stuff in Malta such as running weapons from Malta to Africa. Kayla at the time remade the WSA into a Clandestine Masonic group based. She and Frata said they needed some system of secrecy to tell WSA members apart, make them take oaths of secrecy, and so on. So she made Frata become a Freemason, and she told the rest of us to pretend to be one. She sent all of our early members to the website to become something called "Esoteric Freemasonry," which is fake. It's not recognized by any grand lodge: <http://esotericfreemason.com/>

Kayla in her MySpace days trolled Masons in myspace. Me and my friends helped her. She found that site in those days, which at the time was new so she sent emails to the founder of that site to talk with them.

The idea Kayla and Frata had at the time was to make WSA into a clandestine masonic order, with secret initiation degrees. Our "Lodges" were called "Colonies." They had the idea of making Frata the puppet "Godfather" or boss of the WSA. Kayla controlled Frata believe it or not. The plan was to "Colonize" key areas around the world to establish WSA "lodges." The lodges would be black market enterprises which conducted illegal stuff. Kayla wanted WSA Colonies in Malta, Lebanon, Cyprus, Africa, and China. This way an international network of WSA colonies existed to conduct international trade and business with.

For a time we were talking with Frata and were dead serious about this. I had an idea once in 2008, which all our senior WSA members liked, and we wondered if Frata can pull it off for us. The idea was Piracy. I had asked Frata in a private email if hijacking ships around Malta was possible. Frata became scared and told me to never speak or write about anything like that in emails unless its in code or encrypted because his government can find out. He told me that it not safe to hijack ships around Malta, but around the Horn of Africa it is okay. So we had the idea of pirating cargo ships, then distributing the cargo to our Colonies, where they would sell the stuff off and so on.

That was the plan or idea :) Making it real was something totally different and much harder.

This is were we got the idea of "eColonization" from originally. Our only real option we had to materialize Colonies in those key areas was to use the internet to find people in those areas, then make them WSA members. During this time Kayla was pretty much running the WSA and I was the "project manager," which means I managed projects they came up with. So Colonizing different areas via the internet became a project I oversaw and stuff.

Too make sure that our members around the world left the internet to do things in the real world, I came up with a few clever solutions. I first made a rough draft of our "ABC" rite, which is just a system of training where the WSA initiate does criminal stuff in the real world. I also created other real world activities. This makes it so that the people we meet online who became WSA members must actually practice WSA stuff in the real world. This kept WSA offline, theoretically. Each WSA initiate was instructed to immediately go out into their city and recruit two other people to begin a Colony.

When all that was put together we had to circumvent another big problem: We had no market of people to find members from to actually begin Colonization. This was when Kayla said we'd configure WSA to be Satanic on the outside so we can tap into the Satanic market. She went to go talk to a friend of her's named Knifer who helped run the Satanic Chapel. Kayla was a member of the Satanic Chapel. Believe it or not, when me and Kayla and our original WSA friends were on MySpace around 2004-2007, we knew Knifer. In MySpace our friends started a Satanic group and Knifer was an actual member there. He wasn't active, but we knew him. We coincidentally re-met him in MySatan, which was when Kayla became a member of his Satanic Chapel. So after Kayla and Knifer talked business, the both of them agreed to make the WSA a Grotto of the Satanic Chapel.

Look on this page: [ <http://www.satanicchapel.org/?p=Links> ]. You'll see that the WSA352 is listed as an official Grotto of the Satanic Chapel :) The WSA was actually its first and only Grotto at the time. Kayla's idea was to tap into the LaVeyan market. This was obviously before we knew much of anything about the ONA.

It wasn't until short after we became a grotto of the SC that Kayla met some ONA people like Ryan. Then once we learned that the ONA had things like real world based initiation/training systems like its 7FW, and Ordeals, Tasks, and that it was open to crime and everything, Kayla threw aside the SC and LaVey market and she began to work on making our WSA the ONA's first nexion :) And the rest is history.

By the time we hooked up with ONA, our WSA already had real Colonies in Canada, Texas, and New York. One reason why Myatt tossed Ryan and the Temple of THEM to the curb and brought our WSA closer to him was this fact actually. Unlike THEM, our WSA had the ability to spawn or make subgroups across vast areas of the world by using the internet and social skills. So Myatt brought us closer to him, and we'd use our skills to actually grow ONA new nexions. After talking with DarkLogos about our secret plan of making an international black market network, DarkLogos liked the idea and Myatt as AL wrote a few official ONA MSS which gradually stated that an aim of the ONA was to spread nexions around the world to manifest an "international network of operations."

This was why we worked so hard on ONA. Building that international network, according to Kayla's calculations would take 10 years. So we told DM that it would take about 10 years to see any real results. It's been 5 years, and we're barely seeing Nexions crop up now everywhere every other month. Even though I left, the ONA is just programmed by those ONA MSS to continue to make new nexions. Plus, I'm still in touch with a lot of ONA people via email, so I still help out with things :) I'm just working behind the scenes now through others. In ONA - you know this - we call this "Aeonic Magick."

I actually didn't know Ryan was leaving. I'll forward you a private conversation between me and him so you can see I didn't know anything. Ryan also has nothing to do with any WSA plans. I don't know why he is leaving. I guess, you grow out of ONA. Please keep the forwarded conversation to yourself :)

Most people in Satanism and the occult don't have "aeonic insight" like you and me. You have it, like you said. The end result you want is far ahead. People in Satanism want to see immediate gratification. The internet is a valuable tool. I disagree with Jason S. I can name a few Internet things that exists on the internet that is doing well and making real money and effecting the real world: Amazon.com, Facebook, Tweeter. Tweeter helped foment some revolutions in the middle east even!

The thing is though, you have to use the internet right to manifest real world stuff. Doing what Venger did is not the right way. making a form or social network site for you organization anchors it in cyberspace. Plus, his C.O.C. was all ideology and no real world based "praxis." Pay attention to Myatt and his ONA, he's a genius in his own way. His ONA is part ideas and part "praxis," which just means "things to do in the real world." Things like the Seven Fold Way, tasks, ordeals, Insight Roles, all these things anchors you in the real world. You just simply can't do that stuff online :) So when you do put your own organization together, think about this. Mix it with part ideas and part praxis.

It feels nice knowing I was one of the people who kept you online and gave you some insights :) I've been feeling unappreciated that past few days. Knowing this lifts my spirits up. Too bad I'm off line and not writing anymore. I need a break. 5 years is a long time. Stick around the ONA and maybe help it evolve? I'll be around if ever you need ideas or whatnot concerning your organization you want to put together with Jason S. I have a resume now :)

iSS,

C

ONA Nexion 352

---

From: Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>
To: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

Sent: Tuesday, June 4, 2013 9:24 PM

Subject: Re: WTF just happened?

[Quoted text hidden]

---

Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>

Wed, Jun 5, 2013 at 1:21 PM

To: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

So it seems I was way off, lol. It has to be Frata 352 then, because I remember most of those details in that conversation with Kayla. I know Knifer, not deeply, but we interacted several times over the many years I've been around now. I first met Knifer in the SoS chatroom during the "yahoo group" days. He later joined an org called UOC, United Order of Cerberus; which I was a member of. I used to do a lot of stuff with that group. I am local to the founder of it, though he went 'dark' a long time ago; we are still friends. Anyway I was also aware of Knifer/SC relationship with WSA. I guess what I missed was there being no connection to ONA in those days. In my defense (not that I need defended), I was very drunk during that conversation with Kayla.. lol.

Anyway 5 years is a long... long time. I've been working toward my aim since 1995, and every time I've set up shop the org has flopped; so I completely understand your frustrations. I too took a break. Actually I took two year long hiatuses. When I first came online, I was part of a local Tampa coven called "Children of the Ascended"; of which the guy who introduced me to Satanism, Daniel was the "high priest". Daniel hated LaVeyans, and often joked (though not unserious) about the COS being LaVey's biggest ruse of all time. In those days I went by the screenname of "Nero's Sun". Daniel had 'Venger Syndrome', but was far more sinister and devious. The problem with Daniel was that he didn't think have 'aeonic insight', and worst than that he seemed to want to go to jail. I have never had a problem doing illegal shit, but I operate everything in my life with a cost/benefit analysis. Basically if the risk is greater than the pay off... Fuck that. Couple the reckless IRL activity, with the mandated trolling of LaVeyans on alt.satanism; and you've got a recipe for disaster. I certainly wasn't going down with the ship. So I took a year long break, separated myself from Daniel.

I came back online under the name Mezillian Calter, and used the screenname unholymarking, in 2001. Yahoo groups (and chatrooms) were beginning to get big at this time. Daily trolling of xtians and meeting other Satanists near and far was all I wanted at first. My real life was far more exciting at that time. I was married at this time; my wife and I were really good at pulling dupes, stealing, and whatever other sinister thing we could think of. It was during this time, Daniel had been back in touch with me; and needed a place to lay low for a while. So I said he could stay with me. It ended up he was completely without honor. He had an affair with my wife, young sister, and stole a great deal of money from me. When I found out, I set out to kill the worthless shit. Unfortunately, before I found him; the dumbass had already gotten himself arrested. So I moved to Ft. Myers.

<http://www.dc.state.fl.us/activeinmates/detail.asp?Bookmark=2&From=list&SessionID=951906875>

It was at this time, I became associated with Jody Griggs and as a result; used to hang out in the SoS yahoo chatroom. My goal had moved back to focusing on finding local and long distance Satanic/Sinister-minded folks to align with and create real world activities that pushed beyond petty crimes without long term aims. The UOC afforded me this opportunity. I took on the nym Beast (a high school wrestling team nickname) . I met with a good number of folks from that group, and as a result met people which for a time, I considered my clan. Like you said about the ONA, folks sometimes grow out of things; and my clan eventually did. This is the time I took my second year break.

When I came back online again, it was because Jason Sorrell; convinced me Satanism (online) needed me or it would eventually stagnate and become even more mundane than it already was. The Ooze was my answer to the state I found Satanism (online), and as you know failed in its quest to awaken and focus the malefic minded back on sinister evolution. Darrick afforded me a philosophy to use for this... Only I didn't realize what a walking bag of hot air he was.

I thought it was over and was going to finish my projects out. The Ooze, SIN, and a few other things. These were side projects I thought I'd get going then leave, but I got sucked back in when Dread asked me to back him up with 3.0... When that was over, I again began packing up. This is where you and Ryan come in. I had hoped to slowly prove myself worthy of investment and camaraderie to you two, but finding any kind of footing in something as complex and deceptive as the ONA; proved daunting. I of course, don't rush into things until I know what I am dealing with, who I am dealing with, and of course if I have anything to contribute.

And so I guess it was all too little too late. I'll take your advice though. I will watch Myatt closely, and if it happens that I can somehow help the ONA I will. However, it is my philosophy that in order for something to truly manifest; it must meet certain conditions.

1. It must hold transparency to those participating in its current.
2. It must be willing to be given form IRL
3. It must work both on the solitary level, and the communal level

I want to apologize if I've been pushy at points with you and Ryan. It is my nature to test and retest things (Sag/Scorpio thing). If you should come back, and want to do something; I have a very undeveloped baby (Darkhorse), I'd love to involve you with. At this point Jason S. is taking a different path than I, so the Kult of Ktulu thing remains a back burner project. He seems to have grown out of the Slyman. You are the kind that naturally intuits the Slyman.

Anyway I've taken enough of your time today. I wish you rejuvenation on your hiatus.

Keep it Sinister!

-BX

[Quoted text hidden]

---

Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>
Reply-to: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>
To: Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>

Thu, Jun 6, 2013 at 2:30 AM

Hi BX,

Experiencing your org flop is very frustrating. Our WSA has been technically around since 2004, and although half the time we just use it to troll people, sometimes we do try to make it into something beyond the small group of friends and cousins here. We've failed and flopped all over the place. But after hooking up with ONA, we stumbled upon a little secret. In the past we used to try and find recruits to join our WSA. This never worked out. Most people we asked didn't join. Those that did, flaked off after a while. So we gave up looking to make anything of WSA. Instead we just concentrated all our time just fleshing out mythos and writings at our blog. We'd decorate our blog with some WSA logos and so on. All of a sudden, after a year of constantly writing, we started to get people online repping and claiming WSA and some asking to join WSA. This was really cool. So we realized that the writing itself, even if it was not directly about WSA, and the consistency builds up the mythos of WSA and charges it with "animal magnetism" to attract those who vibe with its image/mythos. Eventually we had to actually close our membership doors because the people claiming WSA were measuring up to our standard of intelligence and so on.

Failing at making an organization is a good thing BX. At least you know how you failed and thus what not to do. Myatt's ONA flopped for decades, but it finally became "real." His secret is that even if it was just him in the ONA, he just minded his own business and kept writing and building up the mythos. Gradually one or two people came and helped him out by putting in their dharma. His trick is that even if it's just him - which it was for over a decade - he just keeps trucking by alone, adding to ONA, writing ONA manuscripts which makes it seem as if there are many people in ONA :) He even admits this in an old letter to Aquino as Steven Brown. So just stick with your desire to manifest your org, and perhaps try to do what Myatt did: forget about other people, what they say, if they will or will not join. Just Create like an artist. But instead of creating a picture, you are painting a mythos [image]. It may be that for 5 years it will be mainly you. It was much harder for Myatt because remember, he didn't have the internet in his day. We have the internet in our day and age :) It's a powerful tool. You won't need to keep trucking for over 10 years like he did.

Mezillian lol... that nym sounds rich and wealthy. I like it. SOS and UOC were long before my time. I was - you know this already - acquainted with Eric. But we knew him before MySatan. Kayla and Rich [Sinistar666] were members of his old SOS forum. That forum was one of the first places Rich and Kayla were "fishing" for new members actually. They failed and got none :) But Eric was nice enough to tell us about Ning and said that social networks were the future. He was very right, as it turned out.

You know, we knew Venger way back since early MySatan. We had always thought he was retarded, but we were friends with him and had joint accounts in his forum when it was new. When later we had learned that Venger had brought you and Jason S., onto his team, and later even Jason King teamed up as a side kick, it scared me. I didn't think anything of the COC before that, but when you and Jason S became involved and then JK went to help him out, then I began to fret about the COC being a real major competition for ONA :) I had been reading and watching the three of you for a while by then, so I knew the level of intelligence you guys were working with. There was even a time when I was speaking with Myatt as OG DarkLianna telling Myatt/Lianna that I didn't think Venger was clever enough to surround himself with people more capable and smarter than him. I told Myatt that now that Venger had you and Jason S, it scared me.

Satanism does need someone like you. You're far more intelligent than the average bulk of Satanists you'd find at SIN or any place. But I wouldn't even say such intelligence is what is needed in Satanism. What is killing Satanism is dry clinical theoretical intelligence. It's entirely uninspiring. Yes text book knowledge does make us and a Satanist sound smart, but it does Inspire. It doesn't give us "drive." Drive here as in passion or as motivation. Drive, as in the Drive or Will or Motivation to survive is what keeps nature alive, not text book knowledge of even intelligence. Intelligence doesn't motivate us. The stirring of human emotions - Chitta, the seat of Volition - is what births Drive or what inspires or what motivates us.

Think about LaVey's Satanic Bible for a moment. When we read it - I read it when I was 13 - what part of it emotionally captivated you and drive you/us to become Satanists back then? Not really the intellectual ideas taken from Objectivism. It was - for me at least - the style of image laden language of the "Book of Satan" which is the rip off version of Redbeards stuff. And it was also the imagery or mythos, that LaVey presenced in that book. His Satanism he was presencing had an actual "feel" to it.

So what I'm trying to say is that what is killing Satanism is imbalanced intellectualism. It is in dying need of Creativity, which an artist and imaginative person has. It needs an "exciting" spirit again. In the old days when we were respectively in our teens and early twenties, being a "Satanist" gave us a Feel of inner excitement. It was risqué, because of how society was and so on. In other words, there was an emotional "charge" to Satanism, or to being a Satanist. That charge is today gone. And what happens to a relationship when the excitement and fun is gone? It begins to fall apart and die. If you think about this, then you'll begin to understand why Myatt made it so that ONA people had to insight role as things like Nazis, Jihadists, or that they had to act out deeds such as steal a Host from a Catholic church. All that stuff are actually different ways to bring in a little excitement into ONA. And for a while, this was the secret in what kept it alive and Vivacious! But with time, society changes, so today, it's not as exciting to pretend to be a Nazi. It may be more risqué to be a Muslim these days, and not a radical Jihadi one either.

So, Satanism has lost it's spirit to dry intellectualism. It has no more imagination or creativity. The best thing that can happen is for the artistic and creative type of person to grab hold of Satanism, and imbue it or revitalize it with new spirit. And from what I so far see in you, you have that artistic and creative quality needed. I can tell you're an artist, and from reading what you have of DarkHorse so far, you are Creative. Sure there is a place in Satanism and also Darkhorse for intellectualism, but it these things need a triad. The triad consists of Intelligent stuff, creative stuff, and exciting stuff. Just like in a human relationship like a marriage. Because what else is Satanism, but a relationship or "marriage between you/me/us and a memeplex? A marriage needs intelligence to keep things working and rational, it needs creativity such as spontaneous activity and so on, and it also needs emotional excitement. In olden times, such as Crowley's era, things like the OTO had all three stuff in it. The OTO had intelligent memes or teachings. It also had a host of creativity in it such as its quasi-masonic symbolism, its language and jargon, its costumes or wardrobe, its ritual work. And it also had things which induced excitement at the time such as magickal rites which called demons [goetia], and sex magick. Think about it. Human culture also has this Triad. Human culture has ancestral wisdom which is the intelligence part. It has the creative stuff like the cultural dances and cultural music and cultural wardrobe. It also has exciting stuff, such as celebrations during special holidays. Think Xmas as a child. Or Valentines Day as a teen or twenty year old. Without that Triad, a memeplex dries up and dies. Just like a marriage or lover relationship.

LaVey's Satanism as he put it together in the Satanic Bible has that Triad, and in its time and era [1970-1990] that triad was effective. It had the intelligent part, the creative part with all the symbolism and creative writings and ritual work, the black robes, and it had the "exciting" parts which were like the magic ceremonies, invoking the 4 crowns of hell and calling the list of demon names, and the nude altar. This Triad is what makes up Mythos in social science. Meaning here that the magic and demons may not be true, and LaVey even says they aren't, but it serves a deeper psychic purpose. Here "psychic" meaning of the Psyche/Chitta. But extreme intellectualism and minimalism took over Satanism during the 2000's. And what do we see happen? We see the creativity and magic and glamour is removed and these extreme minimalist intellectuals strip Satanism down to a handful of ideas and definitions and word games. You can test this minimalistic intellectual paradigm out by just asking a social network of Satanists what Satanism is or to share their definitions of Satanism. They will most often list intellectual definitions, and not ever present Satanism wholistically as a continuum of intellectual principles, creative memes, and emotional stimuli.

You know, the funny thing is that from my personal perspective, I am the one who had always thought I was not worthy to mingle and talk intellectually with people like you, Jason S., and JK and all. This was because I was an unknown nobody back in the days, in the Satanic subculture. I was young and trolling people for fun. I didn't think anybody would let me talk to them or let me help them create their organizations or whatever. Myatt was the first and only one who saw something in me. And I know it's because of what he saw in me, which gave me the drive to work hard for him, at times. It meant a lot to me to just simply be recognized or appreciated. In charisma class I later learned that when you compliment someone or talk them up that person will try to live up to it. What I mean is that if I were to say to somebody: "You know, you are a creative and intelligent guy." And I had status, that guy would try to live up to that compliment by trying to be creative and intelligent. Myatt was always good at giving me kudos and compliments, and I'd work hard to live up to it. Anyways.

But inside, I didn't think any of you guys would ever want to talk with me or be associated with me at all :) So I just stuck with ONA and ONA people I knew most of the time. There is no such thing when dealing with peers of there being worthiness or unworthiness BX. The "wall" which comes in between two people is usually our own self-image. And I admit, mine was small, and so I felt unworthy. It's a compliment in a way to hear that you felt like you had to be "worthy" to associate with me and Ryan. I don't know about Ryan, but I'm very approachable. I just have personality glitches. I'm a private person, so I dislike people asking me questions about my private life and who I am and so on. I also have a distaste for intellectual discussions. I'm an extreme liberal when it comes to belief and thinking. I think we each have the liberty to think and believe as we each wish, even if what we believe or think is not acceptable by others. I like to share insights sometimes, but I "drop" them, meaning I'll just leave them around. I don't like to debate or discuss things intellectually, which was the reason why I left that ONA yahoo group. I just don't like intellectual discussions. It's also the reason why since I have been online, I've never stayed in a forum too long. I'll delete myself when a couple people get close or ask me questions or try to get me to intellectually discuss things. The only why I lasted 4 years on Myspace in the old days was because I was just making friends, hanging out, and whoring myself on those whore trains. It was fun and nobody was discussing anything.

Anyways, I'm off on hiatus. And thank you, I'll come back rejuvenated! I'm going to leave the internet and stop all internet activity for a year. I need to attend to many things IRL now. This email addy will still be up, so keep in touch. I'll be back next year a new person!

Take Care,

Chloe

ONA Nexion 352

---

From: Terrence C. Downey <tdowney@twizdedbeast.com>

To: Chloe 352 <chloewsa@yahoo.com>

Sent: Wednesday, June 5, 2013 10:21 AM

[Quoted text hidden]

[Quoted text hidden]